

REBECCA BARTLEY

FULBRIGHT ENGLISH TEACHING ASSISTANTSHIP TO MALAYSIA

A member of The University of Scranton's Honors Program, Rebecca Bartley earned a bachelor's degree, summa cum laude, in management and marketing in 2011.

In addition to her main focus of teaching English as a second language at a high school in Terengganu State in Malaysia, Bartley plans to put her business background to use by starting a business club for the students and providing small business development advice to local artists and crafts persons.

Bartley worked at The University of Scranton's Small Business Development Center where she served as a junior consultant teaching the application of business principles to artists. She was the lead intern at the Kania School of Management's Women's Business Center. She also interned for Diversified Information Technologies in Scranton and will continue working for the company until she leaves for Malaysia.

Bartley excelled in the classroom, becoming a member of Beta Gamma Sigma (the national business honor society), Omega Beta Sigma (the national women's business honor society), and Alpha Lambda Delta (the national freshmen honor society). She was a dean's list student at Scranton.

On campus, Bartley volunteered with The University of Scranton's International Service Program and was a board member of the University's Habitat for Humanity. She was active with the women's rugby team and the Business Club. Off campus, she worked at construction projects for Habitat for Humanity in Almost Heaven, West Virginia, and Albany, Ga., and at an orphanage and health center in with the International Service Program in Guyana.

Bartley's future plans include pursuing an MBA, working in marketing and eventually working to encourage entrepreneurship in developing nations – once again, applying what she knows for the good of others.

A graduate of Bishop George Ahr High School in Edison, N.J., she is the daughter of Linda and William Bartley of Jamesburg, N.J.
